Post service in terms of result analysis and actions correction

On a sampling stage, PSL and its clients meet in order to analyse the fitting sessions and go through all the involved details, identifying the ones that need improvement. Both a technician and a merchandiser are present in these meetings so that all the information is fluently shared and debated as well. A commercial analysis is also carried out after the collection launch in order to identify every possible improvement that will help the client to sell better and more in the next order.

Post shipment support

Much like the logistics related to the documentation, all the information is duly and rigorously checked by PSL's staff, very much aware of all the discrepancies that may occur, before

Shipment logistics monitoring

All the shipping logistics is handled by the merchandiser team which has regular meetings with the client's forwarders in order to maximize the relationship between the two parts and benefiting from a shared interest of the business. PSL deals with highly complex files such as the ones that imply all the logistics of supplying the product to different countries, obliging PSL's staff to be proficient in all the matters related to legislation, bureaucracy and other procedures that may be needed.

Our Services

Production planning and order follow-up

A permanent activity follow-up is provided throughout the whole production process. This follow-up is made by the QCs who collect daily information from the factories about the whole process, but also by the merchandisers who are in permanent contact with the production units. PSL has an extremely detailed and complete tracker that is filled in with daily information, registering all the data related to the order in question, providing a faithful and permanent register of the product life cycle. The whole team meets up at the beginning of each week to go through all the aspects of the order in detail so that all the necessary corrective means may be activated in time.

Quality control, in-line inspections and final inspection AQL

PSL specifically trained technician's monitor all the process related to the running orders by visiting the factories on a daily basis. This follow-up is not limited to the production unit and the in-line inspection but also to its subcontractors, such as: dying units, print houses, washing units, etc. The final inspection is carried out with the sampling plan AQL -Acceptable Quality Level – only varying with the demanded degree specified by each client.

Product Development and Approval

All the process of sampling and approval is supervised and submitted through the PSL's technicians who verify each request and technical demand of the product before shipping out the final sample to the client, thus avoiding loss of time and maximizing the decision process. Sampling Process: it corresponds to the stage of the "dream come true" and as such its importance is absolutely crucial. PSL follows each step of the sample creation, ensuring the strict compliance of their lead-times: 1. Prototype 2. Photographic and sales samples 3. Completion of final sample for approval and registration

This will provide the grounds for an excellent negotiation basis, ensuring the best price combined with PSL's top premium services – it is indeed a win-win situation for both ends. For its client PSL will ensure a strict cost control plan, constantly monitored by the internal leader assigned to the order in question.
